

Case history Radio1, Zurich (Switzerland)

Radio1 is a private radio station in Zurich that operates two studios. Mandozzi supplied a fully redundant router plus two SERIX mixers with 16 motorized faders each.

The mixer concentrators with the mixer cores are installed together with the router in the technical room; the studios have only the mixer surface modules.

The router directly controls Prody's ISDN codecs and DABIS audio workstations. The journalists work with small Jünger mixers that are also served by the router.
